Cohen's Lottery & Exchange Office

HOC SIGNO FORTUNA.

BALTIMORE, THURSDAY, July 4th, 1822.

The new Scheme.

STATE LOTTERY.—On the 4th page of this day's Register will be found the scheme of this small, but brilliant lottery. It contains but 15,000 tickets, and there are not near two blanks to a prize. In order to expedite its completion, the commissioners have determined that the prizes only shall be drawn. This arrangement will be very popular, because highly advantageous to the adventurer, as it gives him a chance for every prize in the lottery, while it will be impossible for him to draw a blank, until the whole of the prizes are out, and consequently not until he has run the chance of gaining some one of the capital or minor prizes in the scheme—for as none but the prizes are to be drawn, whatever numbers should come out with them, must be prizes; if large, the adventurer will of course realize his good fortune; if small, then he will be enabled to renew his chance for the remaining prizes at a small expense, and again without any risk of drawing a blank until after all the capitals are awarded, which in the mean time he stands his full chance to obtain.

This mode of drawing will enable the commissioners to complete the whole scheme in TEN DRAWINGS ONLY—and at the same time it gives superior advantages to the early adventurer, as is obvious from the remarks above. The prizes are all to be floating from the commencement, except four, which are to be put in the wheel at the periods defined in the scheme. The whole of the prizes are payable in cash.

In order to give to distant adventurers the earliest information of the fate of their tickets, the official list of numbers drawn each day will be published in this paper, and will be regularly forwarded gratis throughout the lottery, to all who purchase their tickets at COHEN'S OFFICE.—Those who wish the lists will please mention it, when they send on their orders.

From the great inducements offered in this lottery, the commissioners anticipate the pleasure of being able to announce the drawing for an early day, of which due notice will be given in this paper.

The whole tickets are now ready for sale, and the shares now preparing, will be ready in the course of a week or ten days. The original rate of $8½ per ticket, will continue for a sufficient length of time to permit our most distant customers and others to procure them at the scheme price, before an advance takes place.

ORDERS, post paid, either for whole tickets or shares, will meet our usual prompt attention and punctuality, addressed to

J. I. COHEN, JR.—BALTIMORE.

Prizes in the Monument Lottery will be received in payment—and also notes of all specie paying Banks in the United States.

No. 17532 was the first drawn, yesterday afternoon in the Monument lottery. We have not yet ascertained who is the fortunate owner; in the interim therefore, we can only notify him in this manner, that the cash is ready for him, on presentation of his ticket at COHEN'S OFFICE. No other prize came out higher than, of one hundred dollars.

Handsome Prize for the 17th.

The drawing of the Monument lottery will be continued on Wednesday next, as usual, and also on the Wednesday following (the 17th inst.) when the first drawn No. from the wheel on that day will be entitled to FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS! being a brilliant and snug prize for the present times. Tickets are still at twelve dollars only, and shares in proportion.

Anniversary of Independence.

This day, completing the 46th year of the independence of the United States of America, will be celebrated in this city, with the rejoicings and festivities becoming the occasion, and in conformity to the arrangements made by the committee appointed to carry into effect the resolutions adopted by a meeting of the citizens of Baltimore, on the 14th ultimo.

Bank of the U. States.—This institution has just declared a dividend of 2½ per cent for the six months ending the 1st inst. Mr. Cheves, the President, has given notice of an intended resignation of his office at the expiration of the present year. Mr. Gallatin, at present our minister at Paris, is already spoken of as his successor.

A meeting of the African Institution was held in London on the 10th of May. A long report was read, stating the number of vessels employed openly by the French, and clandestinely by the French and Dutch, in carrying on the traffic in slaves, and advertizing in terms of praise to the South American governments in abolishing the trade; and that of the United States in declaring it piracy.

Mr. John Randolph, of Virginia, was present, and addressed the meeting on the subject. The following notice of his remarks is given in the Times:—

“Mr. Randolph (the distinguished American) then rose to return thanks for this mark of respect towards the United States of America. He said that after the eloquence which had already been displayed on this great subject, it would be an act of presumption scarcely excusable in any stranger, but unpardonable in him, to intrude his unpremeditated expressions upon them after the able speeches which they had not only heard but felt. (Applause.) He was, however, impelled by a double motive, which he could not resist, to offer himself for a few moments to their attention. First to discharge an act of duty in behalf of his native land, in the absence of its official representative—an absence as unexpected by himself as it was unforeseen—and which had cast upon him, a duty he felt inadequate to perform—that of thanking this meeting for the grateful sense they had expressed towards America, and also to assure them that all that was exalted in station, in talent, and in moral character among his countrymen, was (as was also to be found in England) firmly united for the suppression of this infamous traffic. (Loud applause.) It was delightful to him to know that Virginia, the land of his sires, the place of his nativity, had for half a century affixed a public brand, and indelible stigma, upon this traffic, and had put in the claim of the wretched objects of it to the common rights and attribute of humanity.—(Loud applause.) He repeated his thanks to the meeting for the flattering reception they had given him.”

[The plainness of Mr. Randolph's appearance, his republican simplicity of manners, and easy and unaffected address, attracted much attention: he sat down amidst a burst of applause.]

It is understood that the President has tendered to Caesar A. Rodney, Esq. of Delaware, a mission to one of the republics of South America, and that Mr. Rodney has made choice to that of Buenos Ayres. We understand that he is now at Washington.

Caution.—It should be generally known that atmospheric air, when suddenly compressed to a certain degree, becomes sufficiently heated to set fire to gunpowder; and therefore, in loading a gun, the ball should be driven so slowly as to allow the escape of the air contained in the barrel. It is probable that almost all the accidental discharges of guns, which occur in the act of loading, rise from a sudden and violent compression of the air. Mr. Elisha Sexton, of Chenango, N. Y. a short time since, whilst in the act of loading his rifle, experienced some difficulty, from the elasticity of the air, in forcing down the ball, to overcome which, he made a sudden and violent effort, by which his gun was instantly discharged, the lock remaining unaltered. One of his hands was severely lacerated whilst the charge, including the ramrod, was driven through his other wrist.

Patronage of Literature.—In a memorial presented to the Legislature of Connecticut, by the Corporation of Yale College, praying for an increase of the funds of that useful and venerable Institution, the memorialists thus allude to the patronage bestowed on sister Institutions:—

“Cambridge University,” they say, “has an annual income, including the amount paid by the students for tuition, of 45,000 dollars. It has an amount of property, including buildings, library, &c. of more than half a million of dollars; and derives from its real and personal estate, an annual income of more than 20,000 dollars; yet for eight or ten years past, has received 10,000 dollars a year from the State. In the State of New York, funds to the amount of 775,000 dollars, have been granted to their colleges; and 100,000 to their academies.—In Virginia, 200,000 dollars have been expended upon the buildings alone, of the University lately established. South Carolina, has within a few years, expended 200,000 dollars upon buildings and other accommodations for their University, and pays annually from the State treasury, 12,000 dollars for the support of their instructors.”

Latest Foreign Intelligence.

By arrivals at New York, Liverpool dates to the 22nd of May have been received. Their contents, however, are not very important.

From ENGLAND orders had been sent to fit up Holyrood House for the reception of his Majesty, when he shall next year perform his contemplated tour to Scotland. Special directions were given not to meddle with the room which was occupied by the Earl of Darnley, or with that in which James I. was born.

Very liberal subscriptions had been made for the relief of the wretched and starving peasantry of Ireland. In London alone, the sum advertised in the papers, as subscribed to relieve the distresses of the Irish poor, amounts to £18,653 19s. Among the generous donors, we notice the Earl of Fitz-William, £500; the Marquis of Hertford, £300; the cabinet ministers, £200 each; and several large sums from the corporate companies of London; among others, £200 from the Mercer's Company.

Upwards of 140,000 had been subscribed previous to the 16th May.

A vast quantity of American flour has been shipped at Liverpool, for the ports of Cork, Limerick and Galway.

Considerable intercourse has taken place at Paris, between the French Minister for Foreign Relations, and the Colombian Minister, M. Zea, as well as the Ministers of other powers. The mercantile world is said to be on the alert, on this subject.

The Archbishop of Armagh, the primate of Ireland, died on the 6th inst. in London, by taking two ounces of laudanum by mistake.

The Abbe Sicard, the celebrated director of the Institution of the Deaf and Dumb, died in Paris on 10th May, at the advanced age of 80.
